Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-3, 5-8, 11-19, and 21-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gaughan et al. (5589893).

Regarding to claims 1, 2, 7, 12, 13, 14, 18, 19, Gaughan discloses a remote device and a method for operating a display (imaging) system, comprises: moving a trackball in a handheld trackball (mousing) device (see Fig. 6); means for transmitting a command based on movement of the trackball to display (imaging) system from the handheld device, and adjusting a setting or function of the display (imaging) system based on the command (col. 4, line 40 to col. 5, line 11).

Regarding to claim 3, Gaughan further discloses the moving step comprises depressing (clicking) the trackball (col. 4, lines 28-34).

Regarding to claims 5, 11, 15, 16, 17, Gaughan further discloses the handheld device including a remote keypad (46, Fig. 2).

Regarding to claims 6, 8, Gaughan further discloses pressing a button on the handheld device to trigger a display (imaging) system command (col. 5, lines 5-8).

Regarding to claims 21-22, Gaughan further discloses the device is integrated with the keypad imaging instrument (46, see Fig. 2 and col. 3, lines 5-8).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 4 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gaughan et al. in view of Chang (5298919).

Gaughan does not disclose a wheel on the handheld device.

Chang, in the same input field, discloses mounting a wheel (18, Fig. 1) on a handheld device for inputting additional movement to a display system.

In light of Chang, It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use Chang's wheel in Gaughan handheld device so that additional movement can be inputted to Gaughan's display system.

5. Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gaughan et al. in view of applicant's admitted prior art.

Regarding to claim 9, Gaughan does not disclose the using of a voice command. However, it is well known in the art to use a voice to generating a command. Applicant's admitted prior art, for example, teaches this well known voice command (see page 3, [3]). Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use the well known voice command in Gaughan's display (imaging) system so that a command signal can be generating with the use of the user's voice.

6. Claim 20 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gaughan et al.

Gaughan does not explicitly disclose using a fastener in the handheld device to for attaching the device to the user. However, it is well known in the art to use a fastener such as a clipper to attach a handheld electronic device such as a cellular phone to a user. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use a fastener in Gaughan's device to attach the device to the user so the handheld device can be reached when it is needed.
